Angelic Wisdom about Divine Providence

Emanuel Swedenborg (1688-1772) was steeped simultaneously in the rational world of the physical sciences and in a deep Christian faith. He lived during the height of the Enlightenment, a period when intellectuals rejected dogmatic religious teachings in favour of science and reason, and his theology reflects a long struggle to understand the world of spirit through investigation of the physical world. Ultimately, that struggle was resolved when (as he described it) his spiritual senses were opened and he began to interact directly with the denizens of heaven, hell, and the world of spirits in between. Although his theological writings are based on experiences and visions that may seem unbelievable to a modern audience—as they did to many of Swedenborg’s contemporaries—he writes with full awareness of how difficult his accounts may be to accept. In keeping with his early scholarly training, he presents his ideas in a logical order, drawing examples from everyday life as proof of the truth of his words, inviting readers to judge for themselves.

In his writings, Swedenborg often describes things he has seen in heaven, including conversations he has had with angels there. While some traditions see angels as a supernatural class of beings, Swedenborg declares that every angel was once a human being living on earth:

On the grounds of all my experience, which has lasted for several years now, I can say with full confidence that in their form, angels are completely human. They have faces, eyes, ears, chests, arms, hands, and feet. They see each other, hear each other, and talk to each other. In short, they lack nothing that belongs to humans except that they are not clothed with a material body. (Heaven and Hell §75)

All people on earth have the potential to become angels, regardless of where they are from or what religion they practice. Swedenborg emphasises that we are all born for heaven; if we don’t end up there, it is because of the choices that we make in life.

Due to reader requests, we are investigating the possibility of offering an ePub format for our eBook, together with the normal PDF format.

This objective was suspended temporarily due to PayPal coding requirements. These have been successfully implemented, although the webpage design is somewhat unusual.

We will be raising the eBook question again. However, the only real concern is the many different formats, for example, that range from one viewer to another.

Prayer for the Quarter – Summer.

Father, Creator of all, thank You for summer!
Thank you for the warmth of the sun and the increased daylight.
Thank You for the beauty I see all around me and for the opportunity to be outside and enjoy Your creation.
Thank you for the increased time I have to be with my friends and family,
and for the more casual pace of the summer season.
Draw me closer to You this summer.
Teach me how I can pray
no matter where I am or what I am doing.
Warm my soul with the awareness of Your presence and light my path with Your Word and Counsel.
As I enjoy Your creation, create in me a pure heart and a hunger and a thirst for You.

Astrological Possibilities

In the Northern Hemisphere, the Summer Astrological period encompasses the zodiac signs Cancer, Leo, and Virgo.

This period is associated with abundant growth, emotional depth, and nurturing qualities. You may use this period to meditate on the following Astrological phases:

Cancer – This period encourages empathetic listening and nurturing communication, making it an ideal time for mediation that requires emotional intelligence and understanding of underlying feelings.

Ruled by the Moon and associated with the Water element, Cancerian meditation prioritises creating a safe container for feelings, healing ancestral patterns, and connecting with the subconscious. Meditate in a dimly lit, private space. Use candles, soft blankets, or pillows to create a "nest." The timing is ideal during the evening or night, especially when the Moon is visible. Mondays (ruled by the Moon) are particularly potent.

Aquarius – Specific meditation techniques that suit Aquarius energy focus on balancing their air element (intellect, innovation) with grounding and emotional connection. Meditate near an open window, under the stars, or in a space with a view of the sky. Early morning (around 6:00 AM) or evening (6:00 PM) to align with solar shifts; also potent during Aquarius season (Jan 20–Feb 18) and Full Moons in Aquarius. Meditate in a space full of fresh air, open windows, or a view of the sky. Minimal clutter to support mental clarity.

Pisces – Emphasises surrender, emotional depth, and spiritual devotion. Unlike the intellectual and collective focus of Aquarius, Piscean meditation is characterised by dissolving boundaries, compassion, and connecting with the divine unconscious. Dim lighting, candles, incense (frankincense, myrrh, lavender), or near actual water (bath, ocean, fountain). Meditate during twilight, night, during rain, or on Mondays (ruled by the Moon) and Thursdays (ruled by Jupiter).
